

DO YOU REMEMBER those days of the dim, dim past during World War II when gasoline rationing was in effect?

Posted signs asked the question, "IS THIS TRIP NECESSARY?"

The idea was to emphasize the need for the pooling of rides and the elimination of unessential excursions in one's car in order to save on the consumption of the gasoline that was so vitally needed in fighting the war.

To some extent the same theme has been used (pretty much unsuccessfully, however, to date), to curtail the use of vehicles today as a smog abatement measure.

However, a new version of this "is-this-trip-necessary" bit, with signs and warnings, is making its appearance in offices and business houses throughout the country.

Only the sign now reads: "Is this call necessary?"

WHAT HAS BROUGHT about this "revival" is the edict that was issued by the Public Utilities Commission, which is now being carried out by Pacific Telephone.

In effect, unlimited outside calls from business phones have been eliminated as of Jan. 1 and something called the "measured business rate" is now in existence.

Under the new system, each line into a business firm will be allowed so many calls (80) at a basic rate and all above that number will be charged 4.7 cents per call.

Obviously when an outfit has never had to worry about how many calls that could be made from a phone in an office, this co-called "metered" idea has scared the heck out of us from a cost point of view.

You see, most of us have never counted the number of times we use a phone to call out.

We just picked up the phone and dialed away.

There have been occasions just on one news story alone that we betcha we have called out five times within one hour or so.

We started out the new year in our joint keeping track of the calls that were being made. There was a blank at each phone in the office to record the calls.

We had a pretty good record for about three days. But after three days, the recording became pretty sloppy.

One month has now gone by since the new system went into effect. We have only the vaguest idea what the total calls from our office for the month will be.

We are (along with many others) really sweating out the bill this time.

When we get it, we have an idea that some drastic changes may have to be made in our phone operation.

If you see huge signs posted over every phone in our office, after we get our bill, you will know why. The signs will ask: IS THIS CALL NECESSARY?

THE PRESS IS NOT alone in this predicament.

We know of other businesses that are even more worried.

Some have even installed pay phones for so-called "personal" calls.

There are other disadvantages.

As a instance, a person will come into the office and ask to use the phone.

In the "old days", if it was a local call, one would just say, "sure, be our guest."

But how about now?

The office personnel has been charged with being careful with outside calls, so when a stranger picks up the phone and calls out, what are the

Church plans $250,000 expansion

Plans for an estimated $250,000 expansion program for the Seventh Day Adventist Church facilities and for three more warehouses on the fast-developing Dillon Ave. industrial section will be before the Planning Commission for approval next Monday, Feb. 7.

Eugene Sample, pastor of the SDA church, has submitted plans for expansion of the present church and school facilities on a 2.5 acre parcel on the south side of W. Campbell Ave. and east of San Tomas Expressway extending to Rincon Ave.

The church is also asking for a variance to the 35-foot height limitation to allow a roof elevation of 43-feet at 600 W. Campbell Ave. The property is now zoned R-1 and R-2-S which allows churches without zone changes.

The plans for the three warehouses on Dillon Ave. are presented under the P-D

Deadline for filing for the three City Council seats that are open in the April 11 election ends at noon Thursday (Feb. 3), City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan reports.

As of press time, three candidates, Dean Chamberlain and Bill Smeed, incumbents, Norm Paul and Rusty Hammer have announced their candidacies.

Fire department takes part in four-day training program for firemen from Mexico

Campbell Fire Department will participate in a four-day training program for 100 firemen from various parts of Mexico on Feb. 13-17, according to Fire Chief George Maxwell, as part of the 7th Annual Fire Chiefs Bombero Training Program.

Campbell, along with Mountain View, Half Moon Bay and Belmont Fire District, will conduct four-day training sessions with 25 of the Mexican firemen taking part each day.

The program was started six years ago when a few fire departments in the state near the border invited a small number of Mexican firemen (bomberos) to use their fire training facilities.

This year the Peninsula Fire Chief's Association is host. It marks the first time that the program has been held as far north as San Francisco. The 100 bomberos will be quartered in 19 different Peninsula department stations.

Four of the visiting firemen from south of the border will be housed at the headquarters station on Sunnyoaks. Some of their meals will be provided by the Campbell Volunteer Firemen and others through the courtesy of The Garret in the PruneYard.

The local department will give training on hose, nozzles and fittings. Three interpreters will be on hand to facilitate instructions.

The 100 bomberos who will take part in the training program were selected by competitive examinations and could range in rank from fireman to chief.

One day has been set aside for a tour of San Francisco, with the San Francisco department as host and a banquet on Friday night hosted by firemen throughout the Peninsula will conclude the program.

Rusty Hammer, 19, files for election to City Council

Russell "Rusty" Hammer, 19, Santa Clara University student and 1971 graduate of Del Mar High School, this week announced his candidacy for one of the three Campbell City Council seats that will be voted for in the city election on April 11. Deadline for filing is noon this Thursday, Feb. 3.

Long active in school and civic affairs, Hammer was the founder of the Campbell Youth Advisory Commission and served as its first chairman for a two-year period. Campbell was one of the first northern California communities to recognize teenagers, by forming an official advisory committee.

An honor student at Del Mar High School, he served as its student body president, editor of the school newspaper and also as a student council member.

Hammer said, as part of his statement of candidacy, "I run for this office to represent all of the citizens of Campbell. I am convinced that I can bring new and fresh ideas to our city government. I do not take the responsibility lightly and want to help solve the problems of the 70's that the city of Campbell faces."

"We have something that not many cities have. It is a sense of pride in our community. Through the many community oriented projects sponsored by the various advisory commissions, Chamber of Commerce and service clubs, we can see this feeling. The people of this town want to make this community a better place in which to live."

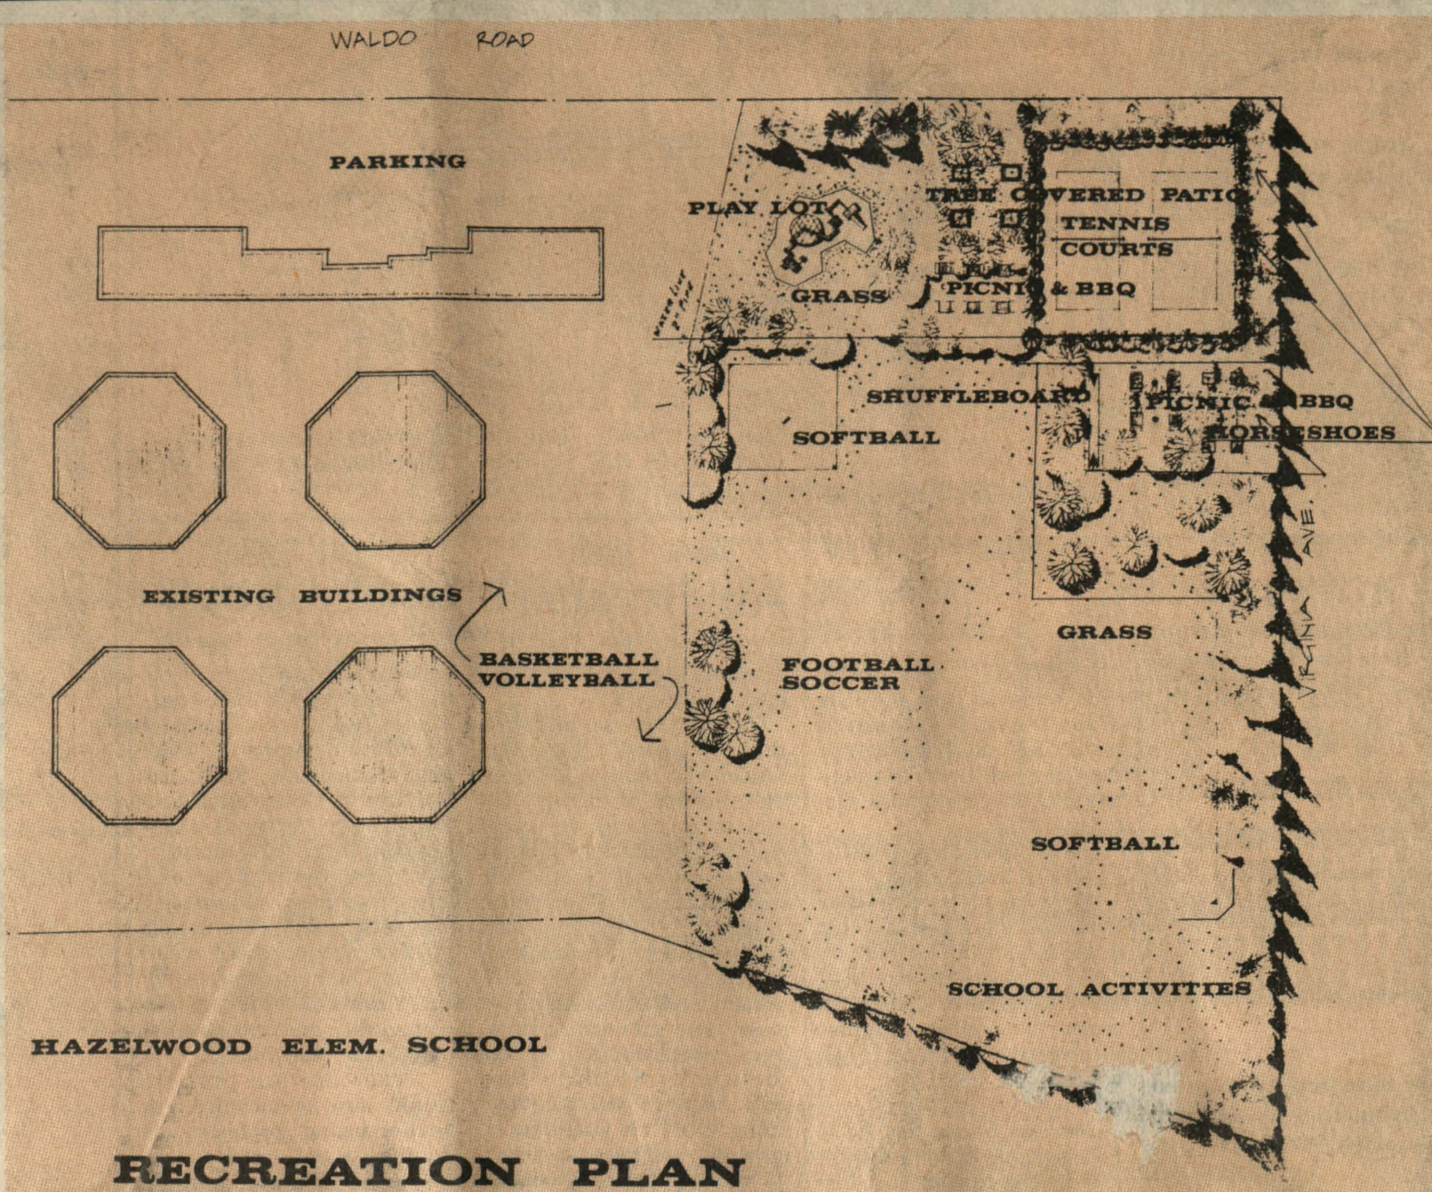

RUSTY HAMMER
—files for Council

"I want to begin now to make the plans for the continued growth of our community. All of our citizens must join in that effort. We must continue to make Campbell a better community."

"Won't you join me?" Emphasizing community pride and involvement, Hammer indicated his campaign will evolve around issues of parks, and recreation, juvenile delinquency, zoning and land use as well as municipal services.

Russell lives with his parents at 1297 South Clover Ave. in Campbell. He was born in Orleans, France in 1953.

Those signing Hammer's nomination petition include Rev. "Ben" Gould, Courtland Watson, Myron Alexander, Ralph Weymouth, Rex Jeffers, Tony Van Laarhoven, and Hammer's parents.

READY TO GO—Site plans for neighborhood parks at four schools, Hazelwood, Forest Hill, Rolling Hills and Dover, were approved by the trustees of the Campbell Union (elementary) School District last Thursday. The plans now await approval of the City Council.

When the city approval is obtained, construction can begin. Under an agreement with the City of Campbell, seven schools in the district will receive $10,000 each from city park bond funds for neighborhood park developments.

Fred Peterson, administrative assistant for the school district who has been the "coordinator" in the long, drawn out procedure that began with the park bond approval by the citizens in June, 1969, emphasizes that the limited funds that are available will only accomplish part of the funding for the plans. The amount of volunteer help and future finances will determine how far the developments can be carried out.

The City of Campbell will be responsible for the construction of the parks with the school district picking up the tab for maintenance.

The city has also been informed that the Hazelwood plan (above) may be eligible for an additional $5000 in federal funds for which the city has applied.

The plan for Hazelwood calls for the building of tennis courts, a play lot for small children, shuffleboard, picnic and barbecue areas, horseshoe pits, a covered patio area and planted areas.

Each park utilizes some part of existing school sites, much of it unimproved at

FOR CIVIC IMPROVEMENT

Study group suggests new city commission

A new advisory commission for the City of Campbell that would be representative of business, homeowner, economic, special interest and all age groups was suggested at a study session Monday night attended by members of all present city commissions and the City Council.

The case for the new city advisory body with the proposed title of "Civic Improvement Commission" was presented by Mrs. Jeanette Watson, chairman of Citizens for Beautification.

Mrs. Watson explained that the proposed seven-member body would "possess a broad scope of concern which should include such areas as: cultural needs, health and welfare services, beautification, environmental problems, library needs, historical needs and problems of youth and senior citizens."

She added that the underlying philosophy to guide the new commission's functions would be (1) to identify community needs and problems within the scope of concerns assigned to it; (2) to provide channels for their expression and (3) to advise the City Council as to what available resources could be used to deal with them.

"The Commission would concern itself with areas of civic improvement which will require guidelines for action as the city grows and changes in its new environment," Mrs. Watson emphasized.

The new commission would be appointed by the mayor with approval of the City Council.

Amato area hearing set for Tuesday

Discussion of the General Plan as it affects the 31-acre Amato property will highlight the special public hearing called by the Planning Commission for next Tuesday, Feb. 8 at Coventry School.

Coventry School, on W. Campbell Ave., is adjacent to the area that will be under fire. Although the Amato property is the main feature, the hearing will cover almost all the expressway area that is within the city limits.

The City Council has asked the Planning Commission to recommend by Feb. 14 any changes in the General Plan as it affects the Amato property, which is now zoned R-1.

Residents in the area have objected to the proposed site plan of Dura Style Homes which would place a town

Campbell school board names James D'Avis superintendent

James D'Avis, 42, who has lived in Campbell almost all his life, and who has served as "acting" superintendent of the Campbell Union (elementary) District since Oct. 1970, last Thursday was appointed district superintendent by official board action.

In a statement by Dr. Richard H. MacQuiddy, board president, announcing the appointment, it was pointed out that the board had completed a detailed, written evaluation of the performance of D'Avis from the time he was appointed as acting superintendent.

"It is our pleasure to appoint Mr. D'Avis as District Superintendent," MacQuiddy said, "now that it has become legally possible. He has served with distinction as Acting Superintendent this past year and has amply demonstrated his ability. The Board feels most fortunate to have an educator of such outstanding ability to lead our district."

D'Avis was appointed acting superintendent in Oct. 1970 when Neal Royer, who had appointed superintendent in 1964 and had been given a new four-year contract in 1968, was demoted to principal by a 3-2 vote of the board. Royer continued to receive his full superintendent's salary.

In July of last year, Royer went off the district's payroll and accepted a position in the school system in Atascadero, Calif. Royer has filed suit against the three trustees for their action.

MacQuiddy added that the contract with D'Avis has an "escape clause" indicating that should pending litigation result in Royer's reinstatement then D'Avis would become assistant superintendent. D'Avis has been on the superintendent's salary schedule since July 1, 1971; therefore, the appointment does not change his salary.

D'Avis, who was born in San Jose, attended Campbell Grammar School from the fifth grade on and is a graduate of Campbell High and San Jose State, where he also received his master's degree in education.

D'Avis came to the district in 1952 starting as a classroom teacher and later advanced to the principalship of Hamilton and Castlemont schools. He was appointed assistant superintendent in 1965 and was serving in that position when he became acting superintendent.

He and his wife, Marion, have four children. Two are attending Rosemary School, one is at Campbell High and the other in West Valley College.

D'Avis has been active in the Campbell Kiwanis Club and in the Chamber of Commerce.

Editorial

On home rule

From time to time the suggestion has been made in official quarters, but mostly in unofficial ones, that there is need for consolidation of all governmental agencies within the county.

Some have indicated that what was needed was one gigantic city-county complex to do all the governing.

In other words, do away with the 15 cities that are operating within the county and make one big city out of the whole ball of wax.

While we concede that in some areas of government in the county there may be a need for a consolidation to avoid duplication, lower costs and improve efficiency in operation, we believe it is the height of folly to suggest that one huge city would best serve the interests of citizens of Santa Clara County.

The extreme of this theory would be to project it even further and do away with county lines altogether, or state lines for that matter.

Obviously, if one carried this reasoning to an extreme, it could be pointed out that a benevolent dictatorship for the entire county would be the way to go.

It probably could be proved on paper that such a form of government would be the most efficient. That is, just have one man make all the decisions. Why bother with representatives of the people making decisions? Or why bother allowing the people to have any say at all?

Such a type of government has been tried in various parts of the world, although it is questionable, of course, whether there was any "benevolency" involved.

We concede, of course, that we are exaggerating the situation to make our point.

We submit that it does not necessarily follow that bigness in governmental operation means more efficiency.

Another layer in the bureaucracy, in many cases, often makes for less efficiency.

But aside from that factor, we have long contended that the more expansive a governmental agency becomes, the farther removed the people themselves become from the scene of action.

It is true, of course, that too few citizens become directly involved in the operation of their local government.

We recognize also that too many people are content to sit back and let government on the local level sort of meander along.

But it is also important to remember that the machinery is there, if the people want to use it.

And we contend that the "machinery" should not be tinkered with by the so-called experts who claim that the citizens of this county would be better off under one single city-county administration.

We maintain that "home rule" or "grass roots" reaction" are important to all of us whether or not we directly participate in local governmental action.

We think a consolidation or merger that would put all the cities in this county under one roof, governmentally speaking, would be ridiculous to an extreme.

Such a consolidation is not the panacea that would solve all the ills. We submit that in most instances it would merely compound them.

We will be called extremely provincial by some because of this attitude.

But really we don't mind being provincial.

We think there is a need for that type of feeling.

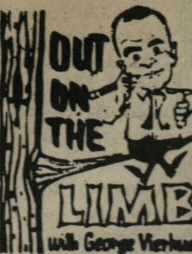

There is a definite need, in our opinion, for a spot in our government where the people's voice can be heard clearly and directly via the ballot box and the cities, as they now exist, provide that spot.

The cities in this county now offer the opportunity for their councils to be directly responsive to the citizens' desires.

The city councils are the first rung in the overall democracy ladder. They are the closest to the people.

We resent the argument that people no longer care to be involved in local governmental activities, and prefer to be served impersonally by some body far removed from the scene.

people in the office supposed to do.

Laugh or cry? Some businesses probably feel that the extra cost for the phone calls can be charged off to the customer and absorbed in that manner. So that is really no problem in those instances.

But how about getting the facts for a news story?

We can't ask the person to whom we are talking to shell out a couple of nickles to pay for the calls we are making to verify the facts.

We are not blaming Ma Bell for the situation.

The phone company must adhere to directives issued by the Public Utilities Commission.

But we have been shuddering about the way overhead has been skyrocketing during the past few years.

So here we go again.

But for the first time in our life, we are anxious to get a bill.

In a morbid sort of way we are looking forward to it.

Just to see how bad it will be.

"ACTING" HAS NOW been removed from the title of Jim D'Avis. Jim has served as "acting" superintendent of the Campbell Union (elementary) School District since October, 1970.

He is now superintendent by official board action.

We congratulate Jim and commend the board for this move.

We think that enough time has elapsed since D'Avis assumed the position of superintendent to determine whether he could cut it or not.

Jim has proved that he is fully capable of doing the job and we are pleased that the board of trustees saw fit to make him the superintendent.

All of us recognize that the circumstances under which Jim became the acting head of the school system made things a bit difficult.

That, of course, is wildly over-simplifying the sticky situation that existed.

Walking on egg shells is never easy.

At least that is what we have been told, although why anyone should walk on egg shells is beyond us.

But you probably get what we mean.

We sincerely believe that Jim D'Avis has done an excellent job under the most trying of circumstances.

That, of course, also speaks well for the people of the district as a whole.

One might say that sort of an "armed truce" has existed now for some time. D'Avis is largely responsible for any degree of harmony that does exist.

Jim has attempted to do a difficult job to the best of his ability and in a fair manner. And it has not been an easy road to travel.

Regardless of eventualities of the future, by his record to date, we think Jim has earned the full title for the job. We are pleased to see the "acting" part removed from it.

Of course, the headaches still remain.

His name is there, Jim points out. And we have verified that fact.

But one has to pick it out from all the "Davis" that are listed.

You see the phone directory people have made no provision for the apostrophe and capital "A" that are part of Jim's surname.

"D'Avis" and "Davis" sound quite differently when one says them. But they look pretty much the same in the small type of the directory.

Jim told us that the apostrophe indicates that something was left out.

Maybe he should put it back in, then his name would be easier to find in the telephone directory.

But come to think of it, his phone probably rings enough now.

It was "family" night at the movies last Saturday night when the Campbell Twin Theater I presented two movies about the Mafia. "The Godson" had its first California showing and "The Gang That Couldn't Shoot Straight" was just about the last word in comic farce.

As far as "The Godson" was concerned, I'm quite sure everyone in the audience hoped it would be the first and last California showing, because it was a perfectly awful movie! By all means, it should not be confused with the soon-to-be-released film "The Godfather", based on the thrilling best seller by Mario Puzo. In all fairness, it should not be confused with a movie at all.

It was an endless piece of celluloid, made by the French with an English soundtrack that never seemed to match the lips of the actors when they were speaking. The entire ordeal consisted of a stone-faced Mafia-type contract killer (Alain Delon) who skulked around the back alleys of Paris in a trench coat, with a broad-brimmed felt hat pulled down over his forehead. If you happen to see the film advertised, take my advice and stay home. Pop your own popcorn and watch the "Get Smart" re-runs and you'll be ever so much happier when the evening is over. (Maybe the people who produced the film should watch "Get Smart" also. Perhaps they would take a hint from the title of the television series.)

"The Gang That Couldn't Shoot Straight" is a much better movie. It's a very funny satire on the Brooklyn Mafia, which shows the mob as a bunch of bungling idiots, who keep a lion in their basement, intending to feed their enemies to him. Unfortunately, for them, all they get from the lion is a very smelly basement.

The funniest scene in the movie occurs when the gang gives their lion a bath by running him through an automatic car wash.

The film stars Jerry Orbach, Leigh Taylor Young, Jo Van Fleet and Lionel Sander. Newsman Sander Vanocur also puts in a cameo performance.

Cougars Corner

by Alan Carmain

ATTEMPTS FUTILE
As the night of basketball play began in front of a capacity crowd at Leigh High the Longhorns proved to be too much for the Cougars to handle.

The night, January 21, began slowly with the Frosh-Soph failing to get a scoring attack going but using up 1:30 of the first quarter resulting in a 7-7 tie at the end of the first quarter. This was the closest the Frosh-Soph were able to come to Leigh that night.

As the quarters passed, the Cougars failed to hold back the Leigh offense which resulted in a 31-42 final score and a victory for Leigh's Frosh-Soph.

In the varsity game Leigh again edged Camden with a score of 11-20 at the end of the first quarter.

A lot of the Varsity attempts for baskets were futile failing to connect just 23 out of 47 attempts in the field. Thus giving the Cougars a 50% shooting average which helped greatly in aiding the Longhorns.

Leading scorers for Camden were Thad Troedson and Bob Martin scoring 5 and 4 baskets consecutively. Leigh did not seem to have this scoring problem, which ended the game with a 49-67 victory for the Longhorns.

ALL SCHOOL ELECTIONS
ASB and Class elections took place at Camden High, Friday, Jan. 21. New ASB officers that were voted in for 1971-72 are: Larry Kondo, president, winning over Dan Durbin by a mere seven votes (326-319).

The new ASB vice-president is Paula Goetz. All candidates running for student council were very close. The four officers elected were: Jeff Cunningham, Eleanor Clupny, Wes Toland and Cindy Sliter.

Senior class elections started off with a tie for the presidency between Todd Hancock and Debbie Michel which was decided by a re-vote last Thursday, Jan. 27. The new senior class president is Todd Hancock; Nancy Coleman, vice-president; Steve Espinoza, secretary; Miles Utzerath, treasurer and Rick Randazzo, sergeant-at-arms.

Kemp, secretary and Catherine Utzerath, treasurer.

Wayne Brudick is sophomore class president. Other officers are: Rick Davis, vice-president; Lisa Arthofer, secretary; Karen Hendrickson, sergeant-at-arms and Matt Medercourt, treasurer.

CHESSNUTS RALLY

by Chris Rodgers
Camden Chessnuts came back after falling to Blackford two weeks ago 4-3 and triumphed Del Mar 5-2, which makes Camden's record 7-2 and keeps them one game ahead of their contenders.

Winners in last week's game against Del Mar were Rich Sarsfield 8-1, John Stenzel 8-1, Chris Rodgers, 7-1-1, Bill Slough 6-1-2, and Steve Abbet, 1-2-1. The two unfortunate players were Pete Pypier and Jim Schovanec.

There is one more tournament left in the season this year, which is the battle between Camden and Campbell.

VALIANT EFFORTS

by Alan Carmain
Camden High's varsity hoop men were moving right along against the Panthers of Prospect in the game played Tuesday, Jan. 25, on home territory.

At half-time the score was close with Camden lagging behind by 1 basket, 23-25. The Cougars seemed to have a fair control over the game against the Panthers until the fourth quarter rolled around when they went from a close 37-38 score to a final score of 53-62 and a loss.

Leading scorers for Camden were Mike Pursey, with a total of 18 points and Bob Martin, totaling 11 points in the game.

The J.V. team did not seem to have control over the high scoring game, as the score at half-time was 19-37 in favor of the Panthers.

Camden continued to slip, getting more and more behind, which finally ended in a 47-65 loss for Camden. Leading scorers, who tried desperately to bring the two scores closer were, Dave Pursey, totaling 23 points for the game, and Gary Martin totaling 14 points.

DARTING AROUND

with Tom Carroll

Forty-six pairs turned out for the finals of the Northern California Darts Assn. Doubles Championship. The first three places go to Los Angeles on Feb. 12 for the All-Star game with the SCDA.

The final match pitted last season's champions Ben and Jim Macredes against former champions Don Halter and Tony Chavarria.

The Macredes shot for Los Gatos' Scarlet La Rue's I, while Tony and Don shot for the Courtyard II "Prosecutors" in Hayward.

It was literally a fight to the wire. The Hayward "black shirts" took the first game in 30 darts, while the Macredes finished the second game in the same number of darts.

Now came the pressure game. Both pairs had double troubles getting away for the start. Once away, they were both shooting for the double 20 on the 39th dart. Don set two darts on the outside of the wires but dropped the third into the single twenty.

Ben did the same thing. Tony's turn, and he laid all three darts on the outside of the wire on the double ten. Jim also laid his three on the outside.

Now it was Don's turn. His first dart was on the outside of the wire. The second one was solidly between the wires for the win.

In reaching the final match the Macredes defeated Roy Haslam and Eric Branthwaite of Lancashire Lad I in the quarter final match. Gary Orehwa and Lou Siegel of the Loft in Oakland lost the other quarter final.

The two losers then played off for third place with the Los Gatos pair of Haslam and Branthwaite taking the match.

During the course of the afternoon both Macredes popped 140's with Jim also shooting a 131 and a 123. Three other 140's were hit by Kip Fanjoy (Scarlet La Rue's I), Snowy Richardson (Albatross) and Ski Solinski (Say When).

LEAGUE STANDINGS

With only three weeks left in the Fall-Winter schedule of games, only one team appears to have a clear-cut lead in their division.

Primrose Lanes II of Burlingame has a 12 game lead over the Reruns (Gaslighter Theater II) of Campbell. 12 games is a little hard to make-up in three weeks. The third place team in the "B" division of the South Bay League, Los Gatos' Lancashire Lad II, is breathing on the Reruns tail. They are only two games behind the Reruns.

In the "A" division Lancashire Lad I picked up a game on first place Scarlet La Rue's I. The Lads are only four games behind.

The El Camino League had both divisions tighten up. Andy Capp's from Sunnyvale and Campbell's Black Knight both closed the gap in the "A" division. Capp's is three games out with the Knights only six games out of first.

Los Gatos' Club Gato closed the gap in the "B" division to two games on the Banbury Clock II of San Jose. The third place Lancashire Lad III "Goof-Offs" slid further off the pace to eleven games behind.

All three of these races make for an interesting end to the season.

Teens march for sponsor's dimes

Something new in teenager participation in the March of Dimes is coming up March 12 in the first Walk-A-Thon for Santa Clara County. Plans call for the Walk-A-Thon to start from Buck Shaw Stadium at the University of Santa Clara and cover a 20-mile route, returning to the starting point. There will be "pop-out" buses for those who drop out along the way. Official sponsor sheets will be available within a few days at 7-11 Stores throughout the county or from March of Dimes county headquarters, 1171 Lincoln Ave., San Jose. Additional pickup points will be announced later.

Walk-A-Thon participants will line up individual sponsors to donate at least 10 cents for each mile they have walked. The funds will go to the March of Dimes, the fundraising arm of The National Foundation, national voluntary health agency working the field in birth defects. Mr. and Mrs. William Mim Mack of Santa Clara will serve as co-directors of volunteers. Their son, Marty, was national March of Dimes poster child in 1970 and 1971.

CLERGY CELEBRATE—Among the guests celebrating with the Congregational Church of Campbell in the dedication of their new $100,000 additions were visiting clergy and members of the community. They are, back row: Rev. William H. Gould,

First United Methodist Church; Robert Culp, chairman of the building committee; Rev. Leonard Bose, St. Lucy's Church; Rev. Frank Jagers, United Church of Christ, Ralph Doetsch, mayor; Rev. Richard Zoppel, Rev.

Jerry Angove, Rev. John Carroll, former pastor of Church of the Valley, and Dr. Richard Norberg, United Church of Christ, San Francisco. In the front row are Myron Fairchild, church moderator, Dr. David M. Held, guest speaker; Dr. Corwin H. Olds, pastor emeritus; Rev. Roland Wiederanders, Zion Lutheran Church; Rev. Kenneth Bell, Santa Clara Council of Churches, and Rev. Anthony Myers, minister of the Congregational Church.

FELLOWSHIP—Friends and members of the Congregational Church mingle, chat snack in the newly built and dedicated Fellowship Hall. Two new classrooms, were also dedicated at the Service of Celebration held at the church, 400 W. Campbell Ave., recently.

Congregational dedication includes visiting clergy

Dedication ceremonies at the Congregational Church of Campbell on Sunday, Jan. 23 included official best wishes from Ralph Doetsch, mayor and Rev. William H. (Ben) Gould, first United Methodist Church, who thanked the congregation for providing facilities which will benefit everyone in the area.

Myron Fairchild, church moderator, was master of ceremonies for the dedication in the new Fellowship Hall, following a "Service of Celebration" in the church sanctuary for a large gathering of members and friends.

Rev. Anthony Wayne Myers, minister of the church, led the congregation in a litany of dedication. Dr. Corwin H. Olds, pastor emeritus, shared dedication thoughts and Paul Cocking sang, "Bless This House."

The Chancel Choir concluded the dedication with "The Lord Bless Thee and Keep Thee." Youth members were tour guides while the Women's Fellowship served refreshments in the new facility.

Dr. David Held, minister of the First Congregational Church, San Mateo, was guest speaker.

The Congregational Church of Campbell added a large Fellowship Hall, a kitchen addition with modernized equipment and two large classrooms to its campus.

Expanding service programs, including Adult Education, Campbell's Children's Center, Congregational Preschool, and Alcoholics Anonymous groups, will benefit from these improvements as will other church and community groups.

The new accommodations are a second stage of the master plan laid out by Corwin H. Olds when the Congregation moved from Center Street in 1956.

In addition to congregational gifts, funding was provided by the United Church Board for Homeland Ministries.

The men gather on Saturday morning for a study of famous Biblical characters and a breakfast of rolls and coffee.

A for your thoughts

by Edith Bonnet 1950

I turned on the television a couple of weeks ago to watch a late afternoon variety show, and suddenly, was tossed back twenty years or so to my childhood.

For there, in my living room in living color were Howdy-Doody, Buffalo Bill and Clara Bell the clown. Even the peanut gallery looked the same.

Buffalo Bill, looking a little greyer around the temples, but not much the worse for wear, was still as handsome as the day I decided to marry him at the age of 8 or 9, along with 100,000 or so other little girls.

My folks took me to Hollywood one time, and I sat in the peanut gallery. It was called the peanut gallery because its major sponsor was a peanut company. There was even a walking, talking peanut man.

Somehow, I outgrew my desire to marry Buffalo Bill and graduated to greener pastures. There was a fellow, a cousin of our neighbors, who lived across the street.

He'd come to visit in his sailor uniform. I guess all little girls find something fascinating about a uniform. That lasted until he told me a scary story one day and broke my heart, and I ran home crying.

My brothers were older than I, so it was only natural that their friends became objects of my affection.

One of them was called Wes (another uniform), and my brother's whole succession of college pals marched through the house and out again, always getting married before I grew up.

But each time I pulled myself together and found another dream. Finally, I found my very own, and sure enough, he too had a uniform, a Coast Guard navy blue.

Which brings us back to 1972...the uniform hangs in the closet, dusty and faded, and I hope fervently, that maybe my little girl won't see any uniforms to fall in love with. Just maybe...besides she's still going to marry her Daddy, for the moment, anyway.

ON THE ROAD

Having had several tickets of my own for speeding, all in my younger, wilder days, of course, I can certainly sympathize with the guy in an item which appeared in the Wichita Eagle and Beacon.

"One blizzard day last winter the municipal court in Wichita, Kan. was closed because of heavy snow. The following letter arrived in the Clerk's office a few days later:

"I was scheduled to be in court Feb. 23, 1971, at 12:15 p.m., concerning a traffic ticket. Well, I was there as scheduled. And to my sur-

Club women have fitness speaker

A panel discussion on horticulture will be moderated by Mrs. James Hartman at the next meeting of the Campbell Garden Club on Wednesday, Feb. 9 at 10 a.m. in the Campbell Congregational Church, 400 W. Campbell Ave.

Guest speaker at the meeting is Mrs. Landwehr of the American Physical Fitness Program whose topic is "The Modern Busy Woman."

The slate of new officers will be presented at the meeting.

Mrs. Sal Magnasco, hospiality chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. George Buttkie, Mrs. Ernest Bryan and Mrs. Edmund Birr.

MEDICAL CHIEF—Dr. Allen C. Riggle of Saratoga was recently elected chief of the Medical Staff and president of the Executive Committee at Los Gatos Community Hospital. Affiliated with the hospital since its opening in 1962, Dr. Riggle is a graduate of the University of Illinois where he received his B.S. and M.D. degrees.

The new chief of staff completed residency in general surgery at the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco following military service. As head of approximately 400 doctors Dr. Riggle succeeds Dr. Philip Blumenthal of San Jose.

EASTFIELD APPOINTEE—F. Jerome (Jerry) Doyle, newly appointed executive director of Eastfield Children's Center, 251 Llewellyn, receives congratulations from Mrs. Jess Walker, a member of the Eastfield Junior Auxiliary, and from Mrs. Ronald Rinkus, president of the United Fund agency's board of directors.

Doyle accepts Eastfield post

F. Jerome (Jerry) Doyle, a member of the Eastfield Children's Center staff since July, 1970, has been appointed executive director, according to Mrs. Ronald Rinkus, president of the board of directors.

Eastfield is the United Fund Agency which was founded in 1867 as the Home of Benevolence of San Jose, an orphan's home.

Today, meeting the needs of the times, it has been converted into a facility for treatment of emotionally disturbed children and moved from its East San Jose location to 251 Llewellyn, Campbell. Children from throughout Santa Clara County are eligible for treatment.

Doyle, a graduate of Loras College in Dubuque, Iowa, earned a master's degree in social work at the University of California at Berkeley. He has had professional experience at St. Mary's Home in Dubuque, Ia., at Wisconsin Child Care Center in Sparta, Wis., and with the State of Wisconsin Division of Family Services.

CONCERT

A concert will be given by the Whittier College Choir on Thursday, Feb. 3 at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Saratoga. Admission to the concert is $2.50, adults, $1.25, children.

AWARD WINNERS

Two high school seniors, Carlos Inocencio from Overfelt High and John McClelland from Campbell High, have tied for first place in the first annual scientific paper competition sponsored by the Institute for Medical Research.

McClelland, of 872 N. Central Ave., wrote on "The Effect of Various Light Stimuli on Phaseolus Rhythm."

Both students were awarded $100 apiece at the Institute's Scientific Symposium held recently at Valley Medical Center.

Bank awards top-notch students

Campbell, Prospect and Westmont are among the area high schools now selecting outstanding students to compete in the 25th annual Bank of America Achievement Awards program.

Top students in each of four fields—fine arts, liberal arts, science and mathematics and vocational arts, will receive a plaque from their high school.

The plaque winners will advance to the San Jose zone competition on March 22 and then to the final judging in Monterey on May 25 to vie for cash awards of up to $1,000.

HONOR STUDENT

Charles Alfred Slingstad of 1212 Arroyo Seco Dr., was among the 1,262 students listed on the fall quarter honor roll at the University of Montana.

PHARMACY PHACTS

By Allan Blaine

When your youngsters reach school age, introduce them to your pharmacist, to help them understand and respect the use of medicines.

The Australian Medical Association has approved sterilization procedures for men and women, provided it's in the best interest of their health and welfare.

Saccharin, an artificial sweetener 500 times sweeter than sugar, has been used by Americans for 80 years without adverse effects.

Donating blood stimulates a healthy person's bone marrow, helping his blood volume to return to normal within a day.

A new kind of adhesive bandage has been developed—an anesthetic patch that takes the pain out of shots and minor surgery.

Blaze destroys Campbell home

Flames swept through the DeLauder home at 631 Kenneth Ave. recently, destroying all belongings of the Campbell family.

Mrs. Betty L. DeLauder woke from a nap to the howl of the blaze which enveloped the house before city and county fire crews arrived.

Plucking her daughter from bed, Mrs. DeLauder set her down outdoors then braved the blaze again to save some possessions but was driven back by intense heat.

The door she opened vented the fire, allowing it to take off, according to Robert Olson, battalion chief. He also said the structure was gutted even though firemen rushed to the blaze.

The fire, which apparently started in the front room, caused damage estimated at $20,000.

He spent two years at the Naval Medical Research Institute at Bethesda, Md., and has been an assistant professor of pathology at Stanford for two years.

Bailey retains his clinical faculty affiliation at the university.

The new Good Samaritan associate pathologist lives in Menlo Park with his wife, Mrs. Karen (George) Bailey, and three sons.

"South Pacific" Hawaii draws visitors as winter vacations increase

San Jose Music Theater has assembled one of the largest casts in its history for the forth coming production of "South Pacific" to be held in the new Community Theater, Wednesday, Feb. 23 through Saturday, Feb. 26.

The classic wartime drama, which deals with racial attitudes in a romantic setting, calls for a cast of over 50 local actors and actresses.

Enzo Stuarti, who has over twelve Broadway musicals to his credit, and Jane Nickols, formerly of the San Francisco and Los Angeles Civic Light Opera Companies, have been contracted for the lead roles of Emile de Becque and Nellie Forbush.

Tickets for "South Pacific," priced at $7.50, $6.50, $5.50, for orchestra seats and $7.50, $6.50, $5.50, $4.50, for the grand tier, are available at San Jose Music Theater's Central Box Office, phone 286-6841.

How many times in the middle of a cold damp winter day have you longed to escape to a tropical island paradise?

According to the California State Automobile Association, more and more Americans are doing just that, as they discover that winter is the best season for their annual vacations. And what more perfect destination for a midwinter respite than the enchantingly beautiful Hawaiian Islands.

For one thing, Hawaii is least crowded with tourists during the winter, an important factor for those who want to enjoy a genuine unhurried island atmosphere.

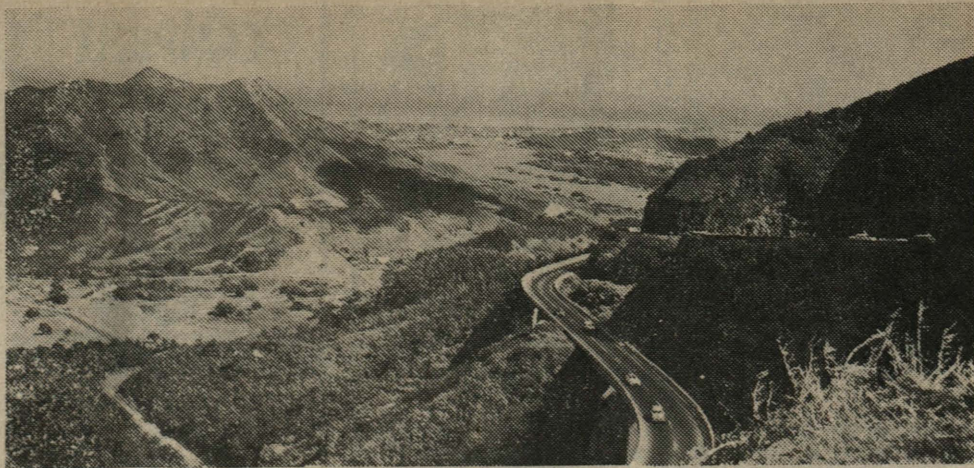

And what used to be only a faraway dream of a lush tropical paradise, requiring time and money, can now be a reality, thanks to the jet age and a number of budget package tours offered by airlines and hotels. A one-way air fare from the west coast, for example, costs just under a hundred dollars (excluding tax) and flying time puts Hawaii less than four hours away.

However you plan to go, whether on a package tour or independently, there is plenty to see and do once you arrive.

Our fiftieth state actually consists of eight major separate islands, with Hawaii being the largest. The others are Kauai, Niihau, Oahu, Molokai, Lanai, Kahoolawe and Maui. Most visitors, however, confine their sightseeing to the four most popular islands of Oahu, Maui, Hawaii and Kauai.

Oahu means "gathering place" and although only third largest in the island chain, it contains more than three-fourths of the entire population of the island. Because both Honolulu and world-famous Waikiki Beach are located here, most tourists begin and end their trip on this island. Honolulu, as everyone knows, is the urban and trade center of the Pacific, and offers an endless variety of pleasures to the vacationer. Oahu's beaches are also the gathering place for some of the most spectacular surfing to be found anywhere in the world. Other points of interest on the island include Pearl Harbor and Diamond Head.

Maui, the second largest of the islands, is considered by many to have the most beautiful beaches. Haleakala (house of the sun) is an enormous dormant volcano 10,025 feet high and 21 miles in diameter at the rim, and is large enough to hold New York City.

A scenic drive (highway to the sun) leads to the popular crater lookout, which presents a dramatic view of the sunrise. Two other attractions not to be missed, advises the California State Automobile Association, are the Iao Valley (Hawaii's Yosemite) and the historical little town of Lahaina, former capital of all Hawaii.

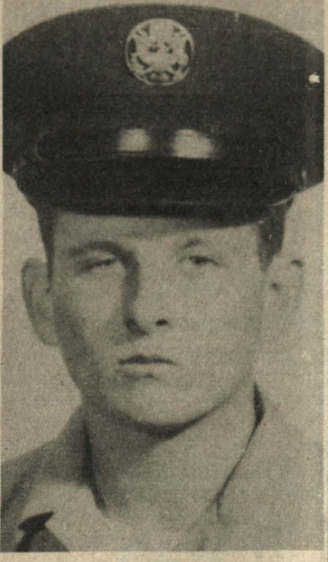

as the most beautiful of the islands, abounds in lush foliage and breathtaking gorges and valleys. The movie version of "South Pacific" was filmed here. Reputedly the wettest spot on earth, Kauai annually receives between 400 and 600 inches of rainfall.

Island hopping by plane, if prearranged, is both easy and inexpensive. But unless you are part of a tour in which transportation on the islands themselves is already provided, a car is essential.

Roads on the four islands described above are generally good, and various agencies operate car rentals on the islands at reasonable prices. The California State Automobile Association, however, advises that all car reservations should be made in advance to avoid disappointment.

A trip to the Hawaiian islands is indeed an entry into another world, one that truly must be seen to be believed.
